James Glover, real estate and loan agency of Caldwell, was in the city yesterday on business.

Jess Young, of the firm of Young Bros. of New York, was in town yesterday having in a supply of goods.

President Kinley, of the W. & W., and party had not returned from the west last night. Business on deck out there.

Mr. R. J. Morgan, the general agent of the Wichita and Western at New York, was in town yesterday having in a supply of dry goods.

The box containing the county fair and contents sent from Edwards county can be seen at the office of the Anglo-American Loan company.

Mrs. G. W. Larimer, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Mabel, leave this morning for Missouri to spend several weeks visiting friends and relatives.

Hon. Thos. H. Cavanaugh, ex-secretary of state, now resident of Washington territory, made the Eagle's call last night accompanied by Mr. W. W. Hays.

What in Chicago dropped down to eighty cents yesterday and there was a panic in the market. Good old wheat for milling purposes brings ninety cents in this market.

The Fort Scott and Wichita Railroad company are putting in stock yards in the fifth ward in anticipation of handling a large amount of stock the coming season.

Dr. Rollins is building an addition 18x45 feet to his residence and boarding house, No. 480 North Main street. It will be two stories high and will extend out to the side walk.

Dr. C. C. Furley and G. H. Blackwell went to Lincoln yesterday to obtain signatures to the petition for calling an election to vote bonds for the Omaha Abilene and Wichita railway.

Harry Hill brought in four large loads of oats yesterday with one team. He had three wagons hitched on behind his own, each loaded to the brim with grain, making quite a string for one team.

Col. S. E. Jewell received a dispatch from New York yesterday with reference to Wichita's railway interests, which demanded his immediate presence. He left for the east by last evening's express.

F. E. Overman, of Ford county, is in the city for several days. He thinks the world would properly named, hardly realizing the wonderful change wrought during an absence of a few months.

Mr. Joseph Hoss, of the Kennedy house, who has been in Wichita and Scott counties arrived home yesterday morning, having located a splendid claim. He says that country is full of land seekers.

Don't forget Kersands' minstrels at the opera house Saturday night. This troupe is well and favorably known and our people may look forward to a night of real fun. Tickets on sale at the postoffice bookstore.

Geo. W. Hendricks and W. A. Baker, of Cairo, Ill., arrived in town yesterday and are stopping at the Kennedy house. Mr. Hendricks is a contractor and builder and has bought some real estate and will locate in the city.

Mrs. N. A. English, who was reported quite badly injured by a fall from a carriage Tuesday, proves not to have been more than slightly hurt, but considerably shaken up mentally. Mr. English says she has quite recovered.

For the nineteenth days of this month Judge Glenn has shored $400 for fines assessed and collected, being already an amount equal to the whole of last month. The mill of this court grinds slowly, but it grinds exceedingly well.

The reporter who wrote the item about the Sunday school picnic that took place on Thursday, was in error as to the denomination. It was the Baptist and not the Episcopal Sunday school. The Episcopalists will hold theirs to-day.

The Baptist Sunday school picnic on Tuesday held at Bayley's Park proved a very happy affair without mishaps or anything occurring of a character to mar the pleasure of the little folks who put in the day in games and plays, in feasting and songs.

Prof. John Woods who is always cheerful and happy, was doubly so yesterday, the occasion being a bouncing baby girl seven pounds in weight at his residence. He was warmly congratulated by his numerous friends. Mother and child doing well.

Our old friend Whitcomb, long acknowledged as one of Hutchinson's brightest lawyers spent yesterday in the city. He tried to make us believe that we had been a little severe on his city in the matter of the state reformatory, but Whitehead never got left on a state institution.

FINE RESIDENCES.

Beauty and Comfort Combined.

Our city is becoming noted for fine homes, residences that combine beauty of conception and design with comfortable appointments. There are many such in various stages of completion in some of the most desirable locations at present, one of which we will attempt to describe briefly this morning that of Mr. Geo. E. Harris. The Harris mansion, situated at No. 329 River street, on one of the most desirable building sites in the city, is not sufficiently advanced to comprehend just what its beauty will be when completed. It gives nothing in its exterior nor interior most beautiful idea of the fully developed conception of its designer. It is at present in confusion owing to the operations of a large force of workmen, but in a few weeks it will be a fully completed mansion second to none in the city, and it will be furnished, connected with all modern conveniences. Its situation is beautiful, crowning a beautiful plot of ground about an acre in extent, fronting on River street and running back to the river's edge where towering trees fringe the river, interspersed with shrubbery and climbing vines, wild grapes and plums. On the north side is a luxuriant vineyard which bears evidence of great care. On one side of this vineyard are several rows of pear, apple and plum trees, the apple and pear trees being laden with the choicest fruits of their kind. At the other side is a luxuriant row of raspberry vines, with clusters of the same here and there among the trees. At the south side of the house is an arbor covered with grape-laden vines and all around the remainder of the spacious plot are a variety of fruit and ornamental trees. The mansion stands in the front center of these beautiful grounds, and is somewhat shut out from view by a dense growth of cottonwoods, maples and locusts that line the street. The front view of the fine structure is imposing. The general design is of the Queen Anne style of architecture modified on the American plan. A tall tower looms up majestically over the main entrance on the northeast corner and the door is covered by an artistic little portico. On the southeast corner is a lesser tower surmounting a double bay window looking out in three different directions and commanding a fine view to the front and the grounds to the south of the structure. The house stands upon a substantial stone foundation that rises about four feet above the surface, thus making a fine cellar. The main street entrance is about thirty-six feet square and two and a half stories high. Passing in the main entrance you are in the ante room, a cozy little apartment of which, in its present unfinished state, but an imperfect idea of what it will be can be obtained. At the left, just inside the door is the reception room and library, a commodious and beautifully appointed apartment which opens into a spacious dining room by folding doors. The dining room opens on the porch, also by folding doors. A door also opens from the ante-room into the parlor. In both the dining room and parlor are fire places with granite mantles and ceilings. The parlor has large double windows of plate glass looking toward the north and the dining room has a fine large window of a similar character commanding a view of the lawn and grounds south and west to the river, also a door leading out onto a portico at the southwest corner. A door leads from the dining room to the kitchen, a spacious apartment, beautiful and convenient in its appointments. A spiral stairway will lead up stairs from the ante-room, but as it is not yet built we can say nothing about it. The ceilings below and above are high and the whole mansion is well ventilated. The upper story is divided into five rooms corresponding in size with the lower rooms and furnished with fine floors and opening into a hall. These are sleeping apartments and are supplied with clothes presses. On this floor is also an elegant bath room. Altogether it is a princely mansion and we understand it will be luxuriously furnished. We hope the happy occupants will live long to enjoy it.

INSTITUTE NOTES.

Yesterday morning was cooler than for some days, and the effects were visible in all of the classes. The instructors felt the effects of the change and a new life seems to be infused into all the recitations. Our numbers are on the increase—having 226 come. The question is asked where they all come from? That is quite a serious question to answer, and one that would require quite a serious study to find out. But of one thing we are sure, and that is that they are here, and a large majority mean business and attend to their work in a very commendable manner. We are having a number of visitors that are welcome. Yesterday it looked like old times to see Mrs. Mayors, Mrs. Stiles and Mr. Thorpe around with us again.

In constitution the bill of rights was brought out, the different parts named and explained, the grand jury system was discussed at some length, some thinking that it is right and others that it is wrong. I suppose it will always be so.

In Mr. Jay's class in grammar (after he found it) they had the subject of pronouns. The different kinds of pronouns were named and declined, and the use of pronouns was given by different authors. It was decided that Clark's grammar was twenty years behind the times. According to the usual definition of grammar it is a science but no authors agree. It cannot be called a very exact science.

In history the differences of parties was first mentioned, then all the compromises since the formation of the government, were given, and each one explained also some of the different ideas held by the old parties, also the necessities of more than one party to keep things well balanced.

In geography, trade centers, natural resources, commerce, imports and exports, were given and quite a large amount of information was brought out that showed that considerable preparation had been made by the students.

In the class in penmanship analysis of some of the small letters was first given, then a drill on some of the capitals was given in a practical manner. Mr. Pence is surely a master of his business.

In the study of practice the subject of attention a teacher should give to the manners and morals of their pupils was discussed in a lively and interesting manner. It is something that should be taught incidentally and regularly.

In bookkeeping, the books were first reviewed, then a review, that led to a discussion as to the proper way in which a draft should be entered. In the explanation it was shown that some of the teachers were not well up in some points in bookkeeping.

DISTRICT COURT.

G. W. Smith, John P. Jones, D. M. Kizer and J. S. Burton were before the police judge charged with fast driving on the streets. Their cases were heard and each one took in a fine of $3.00 and costs for each. The judge suggested that it would be safer for the parties testing their 240 stock to find some race course as the city was not altogether in the horse racing business.

Lillian Gray, one of the Killington fighters, was fined $5 and costs for her hairpulling escapade Monday night, which she paid without a murmur.

O. H. Bentley returned Sunday morning from Dodge City where he had been called on business connected with the Cattle King railway. This is a new line which the estate of Bentley is building from Dodge City to Englewood. Mr. Bentley is the attorney for the company. This line will be fifty-one miles long and will be almost purely a cattle road. It is believed that its yearly shipments will aggregate 200,000 head. While in Dodge City a party was made up which visited Englewood, the new town on the Territory line in Clark county. Englewood is laid out on the plan of Wichita, it had the Douglas avenue and Main street. The town contains at present, stately two buildings, among others the Cattle King hotel, containing forty rooms and costing $8,500. Englewood was laid out by Messrs. Friend & Osborn, of this city. Many Wichita men are now there. E. A. Reiman is running a thirty rail estate office there and Mr. John Gordon is building two fine business blocks in the town. Clark county is growing fast; thrifty and prosperous towns are growing; Ashland, Englewood, Vesta and Appleton are prosperous and growing trading points. Mr. Bentley saw and corn growing. Clark county yields forty bushels per acre. Mead county, directly west of Clark county, is growing very fast. R. L. Walker, of Wichita; Mr. Lindsey, of Anthony; Capt. Nip, of Winfield; Hon. F. E. Gillette, of Kingman; Hon. R. B. Butler, of Dodge City; Hon. J. H. McGee, of Cowley and Sumner counties are actively interested in Clark and Mead counties, have property interests there, and real estate in the growing towns. The soil of Clark and Mead counties is apparently as fine as Sedgewick county, and the rainfall this year in these counties has been greater than in Sedgewick county. Among the party from Dodge City to Englewood were Messrs. Severy and Purcell, directors of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, with their engineer. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe evidently propose to occupy that territory. They had driven carefully over the line from Dodge City to Englewood as surveyed by the Cattle King railroad company's corps of engineers.

ORGANIZED.

The Wichita and Arkansas Valley Railway.

Upon the return of Mr. David Robinson from Colorado a meeting was called and held at the office of Joseph J. Thomas, a majority of the incorporators being present. After offering a preliminary organization and a general talk over the line to be traversed, the connections to be made and the time for action, a permanent organization of the board of directors for the first year was held by the election of the following officers: President, Amos Housley, vice-president, W. A. Thomas, treasurer, L. D. Skinner, secretary, W. F. Green; attorney, Judge W. P. Campbell. The secretary was instructed to procure the necessary books and the attorney requested to draw up the by-laws to be presented at the next meeting. The executive committee was authorized to procure a preliminary survey as early as practicable from Wichita to Douglas and from Douglas to the most feasible line or lines to the line of the Indian Territory in the vicinity of Sedan or in the Cana valley in Chautauqua county. The charter was received, signed and attested and the first formal, necessary and important step, looked for an outlet for this valley to the Mississippi, has been taken. It is unnecessary for the Eagle to tell of the men composing this corporation as they are all known as live, energetic and solid men, representing in the aggregate a large amount of capital. Mr. Robinson and ex-Senator Neil Wilkie being the only two who are not residents of this city. Mr. Wilkie is a banker and public man of large experience. Mr. David Robinson, of Toledo, Ohio, is also a financier of standing and a railroad builder and operator of experience in Virginia and Ohio.

THE WICHITA AND ARKANSAS VALLEY RAILWAY.

We have frequently had occasion to speak of our poorhouse and of those who gain admission there, many of whom expect more than they ever had outside its walls. A large and highly interesting book might be written on the subject. During the past three weeks or possibly a month, two young men named Wm. and John Hanley have been occupants of this hospitable institution and yesterday a gentleman gave an EAGLE reporter an interesting sketch of the pair and the presumption of one of them. It will be remembered that about a month ago the trustee at Cheney went Wm. Hanley, who was then quite sick, to the poorhouse in this city. He was accompanied by his brother John, who was admitted to the institution to take care of his brother. The gentleman referred to said it was learned that the man got sick in Cowley county, where he had lived for some time and that he went from there to Kingman where he remained for some time. From Kingman he came to Cheney where he had been only a couple of days when application was made for his admission into the county institution and accordingly he was brought here as stated accompanied by his brother. Now if this story be true he and his brother had no claim for support on Sedgewick county. But to say the least, Mr. Stewart, the superintendent of the poor house informed the brother John the other day that his brother was now able to take care of himself and that he had better look out for himself and get something to do, whereupon he asked for pay for taking care of his brother. This Mr. Stewart very properly refused, when the fellow told him there would be trouble if he did not get pay. It is further said that he came down asking Dr. McCullough at A. W. Oliver to sign a paper granting him pay. This our informant thought this was the cap-snap of presumption and indeed it looks that way in the light of all the circumstances.

FEARFUL KEROSENE ACCIDENT.

About 3 o'clock Thursday evening, Lillie Ward, a child 11 years old, the daughter of Mr. John Ward, residing at No. 820 Wichita street, was terribly and fatally burned while attempting to light the fire by pouring on kerosene oil out of a can.

At the time of the accident Mrs. Ward was washing and they were preparing to bake. The little girl poured the oil from the can onto the wood under which were live coals of fire. Immediately the flames shot up and enveloped the child with the oil in the can, which exploded with a sound that was heard two blocks away. In an instant the child's clothes were enveloped in flames, which also spread over the floor and ran up the walls communicating with the ceiling, which was considerably scorched before the flames were subdued. The child ran towards the door but her mother called her back and the poor child returned and stood speechless on the middle of the floor while Mrs. Ward dashed two tubs of water that were in the kitchen upon her, subduing the flames. By this time several of the neighbors had arrived, who assisted in subduing the flames in the kitchen and unrolling the poor girl, who was found to be frightfully burned on the breast, abdomen, face and limbs. An EAGLE reporter visited the scene of the dreadful catastrophe yesterday and saw the poor child lying upon a bed in a very critical condition. Mr. Ward said that she had inhaled some of the hot gas and that the circulation of the blood was practically suspended. The family had little hope of her recovery and the two physicians given small hope. Mr. Ward was not at home at the time of the accident. Such occurrences, and they have been frequent of late, are sad to contemplate.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PIC-NIC.

The Methodist Sunday school picnic at Bayley's park yesterday was in every sense a grand success. The officer in charge of the picnic was an EAGLE reporter, who made a short visit to the picnic, that it was the biggest thing of the kind held there yet and that he believed fully 500 people attended. Old and young enjoyed themselves heartily, at the swings, at croquet and skating rink. The ice cream and refreshment stands were well patronized and there were watermelons without end, also lunch baskets overflowing with palatable edibles of all sorts. An interesting feature of the day's sport was the skating match between Messrs. Malach, Imboden, Stanley and Chadfield. Mr. Imboden proved the champion and Stanley was ruled out after having made repeated attempts to smash the floor. There was some talk of ruling Deacon Smith out of the Sunday school class on account of his refusal to mount a piece of ancient little roller pedal appendages. Near the close of the day's sport Stanley threw up his hat and called the crowd to where there was a pole supported by posts. The sport here was to take hold of the bar, which was about as high as a woman could reach, and pull one's self up high enough to clinch the pole. After a number of ladies had tried and failed Stanley called for his wife and said if she could clinch him she could get there half a dozen times.

THE ARIONS.

Monday night at Lewis opera house opened a new era in amusements. The hard, close times of the past two years, during which not one dramatic company in a hundred had been able to clear expenses, have compelled amusement managers to revise their methods and adapt them to the times, or go out of business. People carrying small wages on short time cannot afford the prices of years ago. But large and expensive troupes can be moved over the country at a heavy expense daily, for transportation and hotel accommodation and pay expenses at smaller prices. Evidently, the expense of running an amusement enterprise must be reduced in order to meet the views of the people, and this can only be done, to any extent, by cutting off the heavy item of railroad fares. So, Monday evening, in Wichita, begins the experiment. The Arion Bell Ringers and Elite Specialty company will appear and will remain the entire week and give a first-class entertainment at one-half the price usually charged, viz:

TEN AND TWENTY CENTS, and there is every reason to predict for the company a notable success. Pioneers in the people's movement for popular prices, they should sustain them.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT.

Justice Thomas had up yesterday in his court the case of the State of Kansas vs. T. E. Oliver, charged with obtaining two cows under false pretenses from a farmer living in Union township named Siles. After hearing the evidence and arguments of counsel the court held defendant under $100 bond to appear at the next session of the district court.

A warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of Joseph Breckel charged on the affidavit of J. S. Knoblauch with threatening to commit an assault. The parties to this suit live in St. Marks.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of Ferdinand Eppinger, charged with assaulting Fritz Zerke in St. Marks, and Constable Case went out last night to make the arrests.

Mr. L. H. Stogdill, son of the late Rev. Stogdill, pastor of the M. E. church of this city in 1875 and who died and was buried here, made us a call yesterday. Young Mr. Stogdill, who has been in the employ of the Santa Fe road for a long time, says that his mother and a younger brother, William, are both dead and buried in Ohio. His sister married and went to the Pacific coast. The other brother lives in West Virginia. Thus in a few years have we family been scattered and divided. Mr. Stogdill was a lady of literary tastes and attainments. The father, who was a more than ordinarily gifted public speaker, was yet of a very sensitive and nervous make, and when he died it was thought by some of his friends that his last illness was induced by the unrestrained wickedness and open violation of every sacred law which he was compelled to witness daily with no power to restrain.

BROKE HIS LEG.

Mr. A. G. Staats, superintendent of the street railway met with a serious accident yesterday. He was driving one of the street cars drawn by a pair of wild mules and the harness becoming entangled he jumped down from the car and got in between the mules as he tried to stop them. The mules began to jump and kick about and Mr. Staats to save himself threw himself suddenly back and in the action broke his left leg clear off at the ankle joint. Mr. Staats said to an EAGLE reporter that he knew no surgeon in this city could set his limb, therefore he sent for no doctor but buckled on a stump of a wooden leg and went on about his business as much as if nothing had happened to him. It was an artificial limb.

ARNOLD WOODS.

The Arnold-Woods' philharmonic concert last night attracted a full house of music-loving people, and, judging from the generous applause after each piece was rendered, were richly repaid for their attendance. The combination of the Steinway Hall orchestra, under Ion Arnold, and Prof. Wood's orchestra made an array of musical genius seldom accorded our public. Twenty musicians, quite a number of whom have more than local reputations in their profession, were competent to entertain an appreciative audience, such as was out last night.

The initial base-ball card party given in our city took place at the residence of Mrs. T. J. Humble, on Emporia avenue, Tuesday evening. The evening was pleasantly spent in the fun and mirth of a match game of base ball, and the enjoyment of most excellent refreshments. The contesting nine met at sharp contests of skill throughout the entire innings. Base ball is a most charming game, in fact being a parlor edition of our "National Game," and judging from its hearty inaugural reception it bids fair to succeed the progressive culture craze of last season.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL.

There will be an ice cream social at the residence of J. F. McConnell and H. Shaffer at the corner of Osage and Tenth streets, the Fifth ward on Friday evening the 21st inst. Everybody is invited. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the M. E. Sunday school of that ward. Ample provision will be made for the accommodation of all who may desire to come.

BIG CORN.

Mr. E. Conklin left in our office yesterday several ears of corn, monster specimens, which were quite puzzled for some time. The only one counted, contained two hundred and twenty-four grains. Mr. C. says he has seventy acres of this corn and the stalks have two and three ears each.

A gentleman called into the police court yesterday and asked for a left-handed punch bowl. The governor was quite puzzled for some time, but he was quite enough to send the applicant to Dr. Schnitzler, where it is presumed he was accommodated. It appears that the new druggist is having daily applications for articles and compounds that he doesn't exactly understand.

The Eagle has several times called attention to reckless and fast driving on residential streets of the city and now we are forced to record a very serious accident to a little son of Mr. C. M. Garrison who was run over yesterday and barely escaped with his life. Indeed it is not assured that the accident will not prove fatal. Within a few days five parties have been before the police court for violating the city ordinances in this particular, and still complaints are made daily of people disregarding the law.

The sheriff of Larned arrived here from Kingman yesterday on route home with Frank Blossom, charged with grand larceny. Last night some one telephoned this office that the prisoner had been turned over to Sheriff Fisher, and that for some reason, not explained, he had been discharged. Possibly there may have been a mistake, and that our informant meant some other prisoner.

Mr. A. G. Staats, superintendent of the street railway, said to an EAGLE reporter yesterday that he had managed to road for a good many owners but never one who was so liberal and enterprising as Major Powell. No matter what he may ask for if it will only benefit the road, Major Powell tells him to go ahead and get it. As a consequence we have the best system of street railway in the state.

U. S. COMMISSIONER. Rufus Cone, special deputy U. S. marshal, arrested J. B. Rutledge under a warrant sworn out by Charles Hatten, esq., charging him with selling tobacco without U. S. revenue license. He was taken before U. S. Commissioner Sherman, where he was held under bonds to appear from day to day until his case is heard.

Judge Hobbs has been quite sick for several weeks, and had partially recovered Sunday and expected to be able to attend to his official duties on last Monday. But up to the present time he has not felt well enough to visit his office. His numerous friends will be glad to see him out again.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Go to Butler & Fisher's for the filter coffee pot. This is the only perfect way to make good coffee. 477-48

The Blue Front. Have you tried the Blue Front grocery, of Mohen & Massey on Main street? Big cut and full value for your money. A luxury for the rich and a treat for the poor. To all true tonic most bracing and sweet. To the student a pleasure, to the farmer a treat. A joy to mechanics, a comfort to disappointed politicians. It softens and soothes them when mad; whoever comes here never can be sad. Ask for the Blue Front store of Mohen & Massey. 477-91

We have a job in soaps, brushes and pocket cutlery for some one. 476-31 Ferrell's Book Store.

No more peddling sewing machines, come to our store and save an agent's profit. Thomas Shaw & Co. 477-11

Dissolution. The firm of Saylor & Robinson, real estate agents, has been dissolved. O. H. Robinson has opened an office with W. S. Hotchkiss in room 2 of 410 North Main street, southwest corner Market and Douglas avenues, where he will be pleased to see all his old friends. We are prepared to show lands and city property and make loans without delay. Having control of Kansas for the Equitable Investment association we can make loans at very low rates. 476-31

Thomas Shaw goes to Kingman to-day to set up two fine pianos. E. H. Jenkins is in Anthony delivering goods for the firm. They are the boys that sell the goods. 477-11

Have you seen the new goods at Ferrell's, third door north of postoffice? 476-31

See the new tables at Ferrell's. 476-31

Dr. C. C. Allen, formerly of Chillicothe, Ill., having entered into partnership with Dr. Topeka, at No. 420 Douglas avenue, has become a permanent citizen of this place. Although the doctor has been engaged in the general practice of medicine and surgery, he has for many years made the diseases of females a special study, having spent the winter of 1871 and 1872 in the leading hospitals of New York City, where opportunities for studying this class of diseases are not surpassed in America. 475-31 or 22-44

Oysters at wholesale and retail and in any style, at C. L. Khoo's Nickel Plate parlor. Now is the opportunity to buy goods. The store is going off with a run at 231 North Main street. 476-31

Notice. Parties indebted to us will please call and settle at No. 130, Main street, third door north of postoffice. MILES & EPPERT. 464-47

To the Traveling Public. The St. Louis, Fort Scott & Wichita railroad does not need to enumerate its many virtues in order to induce you to travel over it—as they are known. We do not promise you anything that we cannot give.

The most elegant cars that ever came into Wichita are on this road—Pullman palace sleeping and parlor car combined. Our coaches are as fine as any chair car, and we charge nothing extra to ride in them. Rival lines charge to ride in chair cars.

Please bear in mind that our sleeping cars are fresh and clean when you get into them at this station—not having been used for two or three days before reaching Wichita. Our ticket office, 100 Main street, is open from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m., where all traveling will receive courteous treatment and will get what they ask for. An. N. Jones, Ticket Agent.
